A Letter From David Kegley

Spring of 2018

Dear Colleagues, Family and Friends,

I'm writing to you because I'm so excited about being a Cancer Journey Coach and I'm launching my redesigned website to focus specifically on cancer coaching: drkegley.com I wanted to make sure you knew about it because you may know someone who has been diagnosed with cancer or supports their loved one in that situation. As you know I'm a cancer fighter (last check was clear!) and I know from experience, how much this can help.

My coaching zeros in on the emotional turmoil that happens after a diagnosis, helping people get grounded and work through those emotions. I've learned a wonderful approach that helps clients' whose lives are being turned upside down by cancer to sort it out.

And when they need to reimagine life after treatment, I help them dream and then put real action into creating that new life. What's also so convenient for people is that the coaching occurs over the phone; you don't have to travel, park, sit in a waiting room, etc. You just get comfortable at home and call. I also email support material to my clients.

I would love to take on five new clients at a reduced cost for my 3-month "Your Way Through Cancer" coaching program and I would be grateful for your help. People can go directly to my website: drkegley.com What's more, if they tell me that you referred them to me, I'll give them one free 30-minute introductory session and one free 50-minute coaching session!

Would you share my offer to three or so people you know? Or, if you don't know of people who are in this situation, would you forward this to some of your friends or colleagues?

Thanks so much! I deeply appreciate it!

David

Our youth Sunday is always entertaining. Even during the Bible presentations. Two of the photos are from the sermon the youth did about life's obstacle course. The other photos are of Pastor David giving a bible to our only recipient this year, his granddaughter, Fern.

The Lost Keys

After a meeting, I was coming out of a hotel and I was looking for my car keys. They were not in my pockets. A quick search in the meeting room revealed nothing. Suddenly I realized I must have left them in the car. My wife has scolded me many times for leaving the keys in the ignition. My theory is the ignition is the best place not to lose them. Her theory is the car will be stolen. Immediately, I rushed to the parking lot, I came to a terrifying conclusion. Her theory was right. The parking lot was empty. I immediately called the police. I gave them my location, description of the car, place I parked, etc. I equally confessed that I had left my keys in the car, and that the car had been stolen. Then I made the most difficult call of all, to my wife, "Honey", I stammered; I always call her "honey" in times like these . "I left my keys in the car, and it has been stolen." There was a big silence. I thought the call had been dropped, but then I heard her voice. "Idiot", she barked, "I dropped you at the hotel !" Now it was my time to be silent. Embarrassed, and happy as well, I said, "Well, then please come and get me." She retorted, "I will, as soon as I convince this policeman, that I have not stolen your car."... Yep, it's the golden years!

Thanks to Jenny Brown for giving this to me! Editor

Little Johnny is always being teased by the other neighborhood boys for being stupid. Their favorite joke is to offer Johnny his choice between a nickel and a dime. Little Johnny always takes the nickel.

One day, after Johnny takes the nickel, a neighbor takes him aside and says, "Johnny, those boys are making fun of you. Don't you know that a dime is worth more than a nickel, even though the nickel is bigger?"

Johnny grins and says, "Well, if I took the dime, they would stop doing it, and so far, I've made $20!"

Doesn't sound stupid to me! Editor
